

Learn About Mexico: Land and Water Forms

Let's bring together some of the things you learned about maps, geography, and land and water forms as we explore Mexico.

In Mexico, there are many high mountains throughout the country, vast deserts in the north and lush green rain forests in the south and in the east.

Before you get started, you will need crayons and a pencil.

1. Color the map.
2. Find and circle the following water forms on the map:
  - a) Gulf of Mexico
  - b) Gulf of California
  - c) The Pacific Ocean
3. See if you can also find and circle the following landforms:
  - a) The Mexican Plateau
  - b) The Sonoran Desert and The Chihuahuan Desert
  - c) Sierra Madre Occidental, Sierra Madre Oriental, Sierra Madre del Sur, Sierra Nevada Mountain ranges
  - d) The Yucatan Peninsula
