

Water Utility Creditworthiness

Hosted by Joel Kolker and Aileen Castro of the World Bank's Water Global Practice

This workshop will guide participants through the World Bank's on-line course focusing on helping water utilities become creditworthy and better able to attract financing, and helping governments create an enabling environment.

Participants will:

- Learn concepts of financial sustainability
- Examine topics such as governance, financial and operational management, planning and budgeting
- Identify potential sources of government and commercial financing
