

Maximize the impact of your L&D investment

Even the most engaged participant can lose steam upon returning to the office.

Rhabit helps them pick up where the course left off by:

- Reinforcing the new skills & tools learned
- Providing tailored tips of how they can apply the new knowledge
- Transforming their coworkers' feedback into beautiful, personalized dashboards that illustrate their progress over time

Complete their L&D experience with post-course measurement.

Rhabit's team of I/O consultants partners with your HR team to understand which skills and values you seek to develop.

Then, they break out each skill into observable, measurable behaviors. From there, the attendee's coworkers spend ~60 seconds per week 'swiping' in their feedback on each behavior.

The feedback process is simple and fast - there's no software to install, no passwords to manage, and no writing required!

As the weeks go by, each participant can review their personalized dashboards of fresh feedback data and understand at-a-glance which skills they are effectively applying, and how to improve the rest.

This turns individuals into more effective, self-driven learners, their managers into data-informed coaches, and HR into L&D selection and measurement experts!

Ready to talk next steps?
Contact us at hello@rhabit.co

