EVENT

Parenting Young Children in the New Normal

This interactive talk focuses on the topics that are on the minds of parents - the day-to-day issues that naturally pop up when raising young children, particularly as current-day parents in the ever-evolving 'normal.' We will focus on how to navigate decision making, setting boundaries, tuning into your "gut" and creating routines. Based in child development and presented by seasoned educators and parents themselves, participants will come away with fresh perspectives and strategies to consider.
