

Data Analyst: Tableau Developer

RippleWorx; Remote position with opportunity to travel, Huntsville AL / Atlanta GA preferred

Your role:

As a RippleWorx Data Analyst, you will be responsible for building compelling and meaningful customer-facing dashboards and reports using Tableau.

Your team:

In this role, you will report to the Chief Scientist and head of the Data Analytics Group, working to aggregate, clean, and visualize business analytics data. You will also work closely with the Software Development and the Customer Success teams to understand customer and core product data analysis and visualization requirements.

Who you are:

- Data wrangler extraordinaire
- Clear communicator
- Self-motivated learner
- Entrepreneurial spirit

What you will do:

- Create responsive dashboards, reports, and visualizations in Tableau
- Work in an agile team environment to deliver results on a consistent iterative basis
- Initiate creative & innovative ways to serve customers and improve our business, as well as spread best practices throughout the company
- Participate in planning and sizing activities
- Influence product direction by review requirements and provide feedback to product owners

Experience requirements:

- 2+ years of Tableau dashboard development across all platforms: Desktop, Server, and Prep preferred
- Experienced in scaling Tableau server(s), an understanding of its components and how to configure, and the ability to tune them to achieve optimal performing visualizations.
- 4+ years of experience with SQL and Data warehousing concepts preferred
- 2+ years of experience communicating statistical analysis to general population
- Knowledge of software development and connection to data (SAFe Agile Development)
- Expert at MS Excel and data manipulation / hygiene

Job location:

Your choice! 100% Remote, in-person, or anything in between. However, Atlanta, GA or Huntsville, AL are preferred locations, as our primary teams are based there. Ability and freedom to travel.

Benefits:

- Immediate-vesting competitive 401K match
- Medical benefit reimbursement
- Unlimited PTO
- Competitive salary

About Us:

We are a SaaS company focused on using tech to improve workplace wellbeing, upskilling, and management. We practice what we preach. In all our positions, we value equity, inclusion, flexibility, teamwork, and work-life balance. At RippleWorx, we welcome you for who you are and the background you bring. We embrace individuals who get excited about creating positive ripple effects from proactive engagement.

We care about good management, excellent compensation and benefits, and upward mobility. We want to work with individuals who are enthusiastic, clever, and talented, and we offer the same in return.

To apply, send resume to employment@rippleworx.com.