About Uncovered

Uncovered Group is a London-based social transformation company. Founded in 2018, the Group specialises in data driven creative, transforming brand growth by building audiences and communities through the power of engaging branded content.

With a fully integrated team of creatives, strategists, analysts, media planners and a production house, Uncovered ensures every decision is data driven and people centric, with an intimate understanding of real world experience and how to offer people a genuine value exchange.

Our Uncovered office is a home from which you can learn, grow, and make a difference.

The Role

We're looking for a talented Video Editor to join our in-house production team. In this role, you will be working alongside our Lead Editor on short-form branded content for a wide variety of clients, in a fast paced, exciting environment. A close attention to detail, creativity and good communication skills are essential.

As a Video Editor, you will be required to draw from a wide range of skills and technical know-how. Extensive knowledge of Adobe Suite, particularly Premiere Pro, is paramount. An understanding of food and social media content is preferred, but not essential. You should be open to feedback and able to take edit notes and apply them effectively.

Responsibilities

- Editing content to a high standard to tight deadlines
- Organising footage, timelines and exports
- Liaising with the production team to fulfil the creative vision
- Supporting the production team on shoots when necessary

Skills

- A good understanding of all things video production
