

Disclaimer

UCollex International Limited is not an organiser, owner or beneficiary of any project directly or indirectly represented through this website, including but not limited to “Freedom Boxes (the “Projects”), and therefore makes no warranties, representations, or undertakings (express or implied) in respect of the Projects. UCollex International Limited does not, and does not intend to, express, or endorse any views or opinions in respect of any current political, social-economic or military circumstances in any jurisdictions. Any express or implied opinions or views which may be construed through any creative materials displayed on this website (the “Content”) belong solely to the original authors, creators, or artists of the Content (or their agencies and guardians) and have been made available to UCollex International Limited under the representation that they do not contain any profane language, immoral, political, sexual, or violent, defamatory content. By its participation in the Projects, UCollex International Limited has no intention to malign, marginalise or discriminate against any country, religion, ethnic group, club, organization, company, or individual. By accessing this website and purchasing any products, merchandise, non-fungible tokens, digital artworks, or other materials made available on this website, you hereby acknowledge that UCollex International Limited’s involvement is non-profit making and purely for charitable causes and that the Content is neither created nor owned by us.