“A great success story.”

“The collaboration with Warp VR was really great, because we worked together as a team. We knew exactly what we wanted to achieve and it was clear who was doing what. For me as Head of Learning & Development, it's important to get really good support from the very beginning until the end. So far it's been a great success story regarding collaboration and most important the outcome.”

David Gezzele, Head of Learning & Development at Erste Bank
