Protecting What Matters Most

When it comes to moving money internationally, trust begins with security. At Regency FX, we treat the protection of client funds as our top priority. Every process, policy, and partnership is designed to ensure your money is held safely and transferred with absolute transparency.

We understand that peace of mind is as important as competitive rates. That is why we maintain the highest industry standards for compliance, safeguarding, and client confidentiality.

Safeguarded Client Accounts

All client funds are held in segregated, safeguarded accounts that are completely separate from our company's operational funds. This means your money always remains ring fenced and protected. These accounts are monitored under strict financial regulations, ensuring every transfer is secure and auditable.

Why Security Matters

For us, security is not a feature, it is a foundation. It supports everything we do and reflects our promise to safeguard not only your money but also your confidence in us.

Regulatory Oversight

Regency FX operates under the supervision of the Financial Conduct Authority (FCA). This confirms all transactions meet the UK's rigorous standards for governance, security, and financial conduct.

We also comply fully with anti money laundering (AML) and know your customer (KYC) regulations, giving every client the assurance that their transfers are handled responsibly and transparently.

Technology and Compliance

We use advanced security systems to protect your data and transactions at every stage. Our technology is continuously updated to meet the latest cybersecurity standards, and our compliance team monitors all activity to identify and prevent potential risks.

Every transfer is processed with robust verification procedures to ensure accuracy and protect your funds from fraud or unauthorised access.

Your funds are protected, your trust is earned.

Partnerships built on trust, delivering value every time.

About Us

Regency FX is an independent foreign exchange and international payment specialist based in the United Kingdom. Our mission is simple, to deliver exceptional service, outstanding value, and complete confidence in every transaction.

With decades of combined experience across global finance, our team brings a deep understanding of currency markets and client needs. Whether you are transferring a small amount or a significant sum, you will always receive the same high standard of care, accuracy, and personal attention.

Our Story

Regency FX was founded by a team of financial professionals who shared a single belief, that foreign exchange should be straightforward, personal, and built on trust. Having worked within large banking institutions, our founders saw first hand how clients were often overlooked, paying hidden fees and receiving impersonal service.

Our success has been driven not by volume, but by values. We have built long term relationships with clients who appreciate our honesty, efficiency, and commitment to doing what is right, every time. Many of our clients have been with us for years, choosing Regency FX as their lifelong currency partner for both personal and business needs.

Today, we continue to grow organically through referrals and word of mouth, proof that our approach delivers what matters most, confidence, connection, and trust.
