

ASIAN PACIFIC VOICES RADIO INTERVIEW: KIM SCOULLER

Empowering Women Through
Financial Literacy

Kim Scouller was recently interviewed on Asian Pacific Voices Radio, where she shared her insights into the critical importance of financial literacy, particularly for women and underserved communities. As the co-author of "HowMoneyWorks for Women," Kim's expertise and passion for financial education shone throughout the discussion.

Kim's journey in the financial world is impressive. As an attorney with over 30 years of experience and former president of the largest broker-dealer in the United States for Transamerica, she has seen firsthand the transformative power of financial education. During the episode, Kim discussed practical strategies for managing money wisely, setting and achieving financial goals, and overcoming common financial obstacles that many face.

Her practical advice and inspiring stories were not only informative but also motivating, encouraging listeners to embrace financial literacy as a path to a more secure and independent future.

Tune in to this episode of Asian Pacific Voices Radio to gain invaluable insights into achieving financial literacy and empowerment.

Listen to the full episode here on WealthWaveNOW