

I'm human

Accenture technology quotient answers

For technology quotient videos and quizzes, should everything be completed or only what applies to our position? Join us to explore open roles that match your interests and skills, search jobs, stay in touch for career tips and industry-leading insights, and learn more about job alerts. Technology continues to redefine how we work and interact, requiring us to raise our technology quotient. Accenture's TQ learning series offers a simple and effective way to learn about technology and its applications. With 699K+ employees taking TQ courses, it's essential to share that knowledge through short videos on topics like Cloud, Agile, Artificial Intelligence, Automation, Blockchain, Data, Enterprise Platforms, and Security. We'll start with Cloud. Our multi-service group of cloud professionals delivers integrated cloud capabilities, and our $3 billion investment over three years propels leading organizations toward their cloud journey. We've helped Carlsberg, West Midlands Police, and a China-based home furnishings chain through complex projects, enabling data-driven policing and improving marketing plans. A career in cloud means working at the heart of change. Join Accenture's global team to stay ahead in this rapidly evolving field. Given article text here over 119,000 skilled cloud professionals with 175,000+ certifications collaborate with a vast partner ecosystem including AWS, Microsoft Azure, Google Cloud, Alibaba, SAP, Oracle, Salesforce, Workday, and many more. Team up with top talent in the industry, from architects to software developers. Join Accenture's cloud team and pursue your ambitions. Accenture TQ Enterprise Platform Multiple Choice Questions: 1. Is a platform customization and extensibility? - ANSWER: No 2. What does a platform do? - ANSWER: It connects people, processes, and technologies together to deliver on strategic business goals. 3. What is myConcerto? - ANSWER: By taking adequate security measures to protect personal data. 4. What can a platform leverage in a business? - ANSWER: A business's existing capabilities and utilizing externally hired resources. Accenture TQ Enterprise Platform Objective type questions with answer: 1. What does Accenture TQ Enterprise Platform serve as? - ANSWER: A single point of entry, eliminating information silos, promoting real-time processing, and supporting centralized application management. 2. What is the Collaborative process in Accenture TQ Enterprise Platform? - ANSWER: The Collaborative process 3. What system does Accenture use for tracking current inventory? - ANSWER: A system used to track current inventory and restock supply Accenture TQ Enterprise Platform MCQ: 1. How can a business create its own platform and migrate its data? - ANSWER: C.The organization can create its own platform and migrate its own data 2. What does Accenture use for processing customer payments? - ANSWER: A system used for processing customer payments Accenture TQ Enterprise Platform Dump: 1. What is the Data process in Accenture TQ Enterprise Platform? - ANSWER: D.Data Accenture's core processing process involves several key components and solutions, including: - Compliance management: This includes server machine administration and anti-money laundering measures. - Human resources functions: These encompass recruiting, finance, and human capital management systems. - Private equity issuance and listing on public exchanges are also part of the process. - Customer Relationship Management (CRM) is a vital component, along with Product Lifecycle Management (PLM), Supply Chain Management (SCM), and other solutions. The operations will be expanded while maintaining siloed IT systems. Solutions will be rolled out in just a few months, enabling products and services to launch faster than before. Teams are recommissioning deactivated servers and applications. Additionally, Accenture explores integrating the AI application directly into the Salesforce framework or contracting with its developer to build a standalone solution. The company also considers asking Salesforce to develop a custom AI application as part of its standard offerings. These components aim to connect suppliers and consumers to achieve goals, encompass all aspects of end-user interaction with the platform, support business functions, and house all business operations.