As the new year unfolds, immerse yourself in daily witchcraft inspiration with Llewellyn's 2025 Witches' Calendar. Explore the world of paganism and discover the significance of key festivals and sabbats throughout the wheel of the year. This ancient Celtic calendar is based on the sun's journey through the four seasons, marking important dates for pagan celebrations globally. The Gypsy Thread's 2025 pagan calendar offers a wealth of information, including peak times and dates for full moons, new moons, noteworthy astrological events, zodiac periods, and more. Dates are displayed in Mountain Standard Time (USA), with conversion options available for other time zones. Some notable events include the Quadrantids Meteor Shower on January 2nd-3rd, peaking at up to 80 meteors per hour; Perchta Night on the 6th, honoring Frau Perchta, Goddess of Winter and leader of the wild hunt; Triple Goddess Day on the same day, paying tribute to the Triple Goddess in Wicca; and Makar Sankranti/Pongal on the 14th, a harvest festival celebrated by farmers. Other highlights include the Full Wolf Moon in Cancer on the 13th, named after Native American tradition; Thorrablot on the 14th, honoring Thor, God of Thunder; Day of Danu on the 18th, celebrating the Celtic and Irish mother goddess; and Chinese New Year on the 29th, marking the beginning of the Year of the Green Wood Snake. The calendar also features the end of the Zodiac Period of Capricorn and the start of Aquarius, as well as the transition from the Celtic Tree Month of Birch to Rowan. Additionally, note the New Snow Moon in Aquarius on the 29th and Uranus becoming Progressive on the same day. Finally, mark the Disablot on the 31st, a pagan holiday honoring female deities and spirits. Embrace the magic of the new year with Llewellyn's 2025 Witches' Calendar and The Gypsy Thread's 2025 pagan calendar, packed with essential dates for your witchy journey. 1st Venus goes Retrograde (5:36 PM, MST) – Ven 10 Ari 50′Rx 20th New Moon in Pisces – 20 Pis 16′ 2nd Imbolc – The first on the eight annual Wicca/Neopagan holidays; celebrating the Goddess Brigid and the return of spring. 4th Jupiter becomes Progressive (2:450 AM, MST) – Ura 23 Tau 16′D 6th February’s full moon is called the snow moon since most of northern North America was covered in snow during this time. 8th Lupercalia – ancient Roman festival honoring the Wolf who suckled Romulus and Remus; a debaucherous celebration with nudity, sexuality, ritual sacrifices, feasting, and games. 10th Matronalia – the ancient Roman festival of Juno, celebrated annually by Roman matrons; giving gifts to their husbands and female slaves. 12th Full Snow Moon in Leo (6:54 AM, MST) – 24 Leo 06′ 13th/15th Holi – Hindu festival of colors, also called the festival of sharing and love; celebrating each Spring. 14th Total Lunar Eclipse (12:58:43 AM, MST) – Visible Over All of North America 14th March Equinox (3:01 AM, MST) 16th Celtic Tree Month of Rowan ends 18th Celtic Tree Month of Ash begins 17th Mars becomes Progressive (7:00 PM, MST) – Mar 17 Can 01′D 20th Ostara – The second of the eight annual pagan holidays; celebrating the arrival of spring and named after the Germanic Goddess Ostara or Eostre. Ostara and New Beginnings The Ostara celebrations take place between April 19th and 23rd, coinciding with the Spring Equinox. On this date, the sun crosses above the Earth's equator, marking the beginning of spring, and the night and day are equal. During this time, several important dates occur: - The 20th is known as the Vernal Equinox and marks the first day of Spring. - The Zodiac Period of Pisces ends on the 21st, followed by the start of Aries. - A 9 Ari partial solar eclipse is visible in certain regions, including the northern east coast of the United States, Greenland, most of Europe, and parts of Africa. - April 1st marks Veneralia, an ancient Roman holiday honoring Venus and Fortuna. - The 6th Rama Navami celebrates the birth of Lord Rama in Hinduism. In addition to these events, various lunar cycles and celestial occurrences happen: - Mercury becomes Progressive on the 7th, affecting some zodiac signs. - A Full Pink Moon appears on the 12th, named after an early blooming flower. - Venus becomes Progressive on the 12th as well. - The Celtic Tree Month of Alder ends on the 15th, and the Willow begins. - Sigrblot/Sumarsdag marks the first day of summer in some Scandinavian countries. - A Lyrids Meteor Shower peaks around the 21st and 22nd of April, featuring bright meteors per hour. - Yggdrasil Day honors Odin's sacrifice on the 22nd. - The New Flower Moon appears in Taurus on the 27th. - Walpurgisnacht is a Norse ritual practiced to expedite spring's arrival, observed on the 30th. - Beltane celebrates the first day of summer and open pasturing on May 1st, originating from ancient Celtic traditions. - The Eta Aquariids Meteor Shower typically occurs between April 20 and May 21, with peak viewing nights in May. The early part of May marks the beginning of wildflower blooms and various lunar names, including the Hare Moon and the Bright Moon. This 12th day of the month coincides with a Celtic Tree Month of Willow, which ends on the 13th. The zodiac then shifts to Taurus from Gemini, followed by a New Strawberry Moon in Gemini. Additionally, June's full moon is often referred to as the Strawberry Moon or Honey Moon, reflecting the region's wild strawberry abundance. It also overlaps with other celebrations, such as the Roman Vestalia holiday honoring Vesta, the Goddess of the hearth. June 20th brings the Summer Solstice, Litha, a pagan Sabbat marking the longest day of the year and the celebration of the Sun. This event is tied to ancient Celtic mythology, particularly the Oak King and Holly King battles. The Celts also used bonfires during this time to ward off evil spirits. Later in the month, July's full moon is known as the Buck Moon or Full Buck Moon, derived from the Algonquin tribe's ripened wild strawberry harvests. This coincides with the end of a Celtic Tree Month of Oak and the beginning of a new cycle. In mid-summer, male deer antlers start to rapidly grow in preparation for the upcoming mating season. July's full moon has been nicknamed the Thunder Moon due to frequent thunderstorms during this time. Other lesser-known names include Hay Moon, Blessing Moon, Meadow Moon, and Wort Moon. The summer months also have nicknames like Salmon Moon, Raspberry Moon, Berry Moon, and Halfway or Summer Moon. In astronomical news, Saturn goes retrograde on July 12th at 10:07 PM MST, followed by Mercury's retrograde on July 17th at 10:45 PM MST. The Zodiac Period of Cancer ends on July 22nd, marking the beginning of Leo. A New Sturgeon Moon occurs in Leo on July 24th at 1:12 PM MST. Around this time, stargazers can catch the Delta Aquariids Meteor shower, peaking between July 29th and August 1st with about 25 meteors per hour visible. On August 1st, Lughnasadh is celebrated as a Celtic harvest festival honoring the god Lugh. This marks the first of three annual grain-related festivals. The celebration involves baking bread and brewing beer using the first cuttings of the season. Lammas, a neopagan version of Lughnasadh, focuses on the harvest rather than the gods. Freysblot, a Norse thanksgiving for the fruits of the first harvest, is also celebrated around this time. In other cultural events, Raksha Bandhan takes place on August 8th as a Hindu festival celebrating brother-sister love and duty. The Full Sturgeon Moon occurs in Aquarius on August 9th at 1:57 AM MST. This moon has various names, including the Green Corn Moon, Fruit Moon, Barley Moon, and Dispute Moon. Astronomical events continue with Mercury becoming progressive on August 11th. The Perseids Meteor shower peaks between August 12th and 13th, with around 100 meteors per hour visible. However, the full moon may make it difficult to spot smaller meteors. Krishna Janmashtami is celebrated on August 16th as a Hindu festival marking the birthday of Lord Krishna. The Zodiac Period of Leo ends on August 22nd, marking the beginning of Virgo. Vulcanalia takes place on August 23rd as an ancient Roman festival honoring God Vulcan. A New Corn Moon occurs in Virgo on August 23rd at 12:07 AM MST. The Celtic Tree Month of Hazel comes to an end, while the month of Vine begins. Pisces - (12:10 PM, MST) - 15 Pis 22' - Due to an unusual astronomical event in 2025, this year's full moon closest to Autumn Equinox is called the Corn Moon instead of the Harvest Moon. The same full moon has multiple names, including Nut Moon, Child Moon, Autumn Moon, Falling Leaves Moon, Mating Moon, Rice Moon, Singing Moon, and Yellow Leaf Moon. A rare Total Lunar Eclipse will be visible from Australia, Asia, Africa, and Europe, while a Partial Solar Eclipse on the 21st can be seen in various parts of the world. The New Harvest Moon in Virgo occurs on the 21st (1:54 PM, MST), marking the end of the Zodiac Period of Virgo. The second harvest festival, Mabon, is celebrated during this period. Some scholars suggest that Mabon may be the true origin of modern-day Thanksgiving, which focuses on key winter-survival foods harvested and stored for the cold months ahead. The Autumnal Equinox falls on September 22nd (12:19 PM, MST), signifying the beginning of fall, until the winter solstice. This event also marks the Norse fall equinox feast, Haustblót, which revolves around agricultural cycles and celebrates the balance between light and dark. Diwali is a festival celebrated annually from October to November. It lasts for around five days and coincides with the 21st New Beaver Moon in Libra. Additionally, several celestial events are occurring this month. The Orionid meteor shower will peak on November 22nd-23rd, bringing about 20 meteors per hour due to a nearly new moon. The 31st Samhain marks the seventh pagan Sabbat of the year and is associated with the Celtic New Year. It's also connected to the modern-day holiday of Halloween. November 1st is Calan Gaeaf in Wales, celebrating the start of winter. The fifth Full Beaver Moon falls on November 13th in Taurus. Astronomically, November is home to the Full Sassafras Moon, also known as the Trading Moon or Frost Moon. There are two meteor showers this month: the Northern Taurids from October 13th to December 1st and the Leonids on November 16th-17th. Other celestial events include Mercury going retrograde on November 9th and the Feast of the Einherjar, an Asatru celebration honoring fallen heroes in Valhalla. 1st Lunar Eclipse - Blood Moon (1:21 AM, MST) - Nep 30 Pis 2nd Dark Moon 3rd Super Moon (3rd of the month) – 5th Krampusnacht – Originally celebrated in Eastern and Northern Europe. 4th First Quarter – Moon begins to wane – Nep 31 Sag 29′ 5th New Moon 6th Waning Gibbous – Moon appears more full 7th Super Moon (2nd of the month) 8th Last Quarter – Moon begins to wax 9th Waxing Crescent – Moon grows larger 10th Neptune becomes Progressive (5:23 AM, MST) – Nep 29 Pis 22′D 11th First Quarter – Moon is half full 12th Super Moon (3rd of the month) 13th Full Moon in Sagittarius (7:33 PM, MST) – 14th Geminids Meteor Shower – This is one of the greatest meteor showers of the year. In 2025 it will be active from the 4th to the 20th of December, peaking on the night of the 14th/15th. 14th Neptune becomes Progressive (5:23 AM, MST) 15th Waxing Gibbous – Moon appears more full 16th Second Quarter – Moon is half full 17th Saturnalia – This is the most popular of all ancient Roman holiday’s. The Agriculture God Saturn is honored from the 17th through the 23rd. 18th Full Moon in Sagittarius (7:33 PM, MST) 19th New Wolf Moon in Sagittarius (6:44 PM, MST) – 20th Mōdraniht/Mother’s Night – Ancient Germanic festival celebrating female deities, honoring maternal and feminine energies, and paying tribute to the ancestors on the night before the Winter Solstice. 21st Yule/Yuletide – this is eighth of eight annual pagan Sabbats and the most important of all Norse holidays. 22nd Zodiac Period of Capricorn begins 23rd Ursids Meteor Shower – The Ursids meteor shower will be active from the 17th of December until the 26th of December. On the peak night, expect to see 10 meteors per hour. 24th Celtic Tree Month of Birch begins 25th Full Moon in Sagittarius (7:33 PM, MST) 26th Waning Gibbous – Moon appears more full 27th Last Quarter – Moon is half full 28th Waxing Crescent – Moon grows larger 29th Super Moon (2nd of the month) 30th First Quarter – Moon is half full 31st New Wolf Moon in Capricorn (6:44 PM, MST) The Gypsy Thread's Owner/Admin, Ralph, is a witch who has written books and is a historian of paganism. He also manages an international writing website called The Creative Exilas. I've created the 2025 Wheel of the Year Astrological Calendar for witches and spiritual people worldwide. This poster shows how seasonal changes align with lunar, solar, and stellar movements over the past nine years. You can find dates for sabbats, full and dark moon esbats, and eclipses on this poster, presented in the framework of the Pentacle Path of Elemental Witchcraft from my book. For powerful rituals during the Northern Hemisphere's Wheel of the Year, I recommend these auspicious times: there will be a Black Moon in Virgo on September 21st (also a Solar Eclipse) that can be used for magical workings. You can purchase this poster as a printed version or download it digitally for $5. The Wheel of the Year is an annual cycle that begins at Yule, December 21st, and ends at Winter Solstice again. During this time, there are eight solar sabbats marking the changing seasons and thirteen lunations with full and dark moons to celebrate. The Black Moon Cycle in Virgo on September 21st offers a unique opportunity for magical workings. There will be two Solar Eclipses in 2025 – one at the Dark Moon in Aries on March 29th, and another on September 21st, which is also a Black Moon event. Lunar eclipses occur during full moons when the sun and moon are opposite each other in the zodiac. The first lunar eclipse will be on March 14th at the Storm Full Moon with Pisces sun/Virgo moon, while the second one will be on September 7th at the Harvest Full Moon with Virgo Sun/Pisces Moon. The Astrology method used by me and many modern witches determines auspicious times for rituals. I use this approach because it aligns with the Hermetic principles that underlie the Great Work of Magick. For those interested in learning more about the differences between calendar and astrological methods, check out my article on the subject. While astrology provides precise timing, it may not always be practical for modern life. Sabbats are great tides that flow in for 6.5 weeks before ebbing back out again, making it challenging to plan rituals around these events. Witches like myself often hold our rituals during the peak times of each season, which can make planning easier and more accessible for those with busy lives. In our practices, we observe the Sabbats to honor the turning points of the seasons and the peak moments within those cycles. The timing is crucial; ideally, we celebrate a Lesser Sabbat at the beginning of the new season, after the tide has shifted, while Grand Sabbats are marked during the week leading up to the seasonal peak. This distinction ensures that we focus on what's emerging rather than dwelling on what's past. When determining the precise timing for our rituals, it's essential to consider not just the lunar cycle but also its interaction with the solar energies. The moon's peak time is less important than its position relative to the sun; if a full moon occurs during the day, it might be better to plan your ritual for the previous night. However, there are often narrow windows of opportunity that require precise timing. For practitioners of The Pentacle Path of Elemental Witchcraft, the Wheel of the Year begins anew with Yule, marking a time of rest and reflection after Samhain. This period is characterized by the elemental earth's powers of silence as we integrate lessons from the past year. After Yule, we turn our focus towards the future, tapping into the earth's energies for resonance to set goals for the next cycle. As we enter the Winter Season of 2025, the lunar cycles are led by Dark Moons in each elemental pairing, creating a unique opportunity for growth and introspection. The pairing of full moons across opposite signs on the zodiac wheel amplifies the potential for our rituals. For specific guidance on ritual timing and energies during this period, refer to The Pentacle Path resources. Key Sabbats for Winter include: - Yule (Winter Solstice): Celebrate the peak of darkness, welcome the returning light, and tap into the earth's resonance. - Date: Saturday, December 21, 2024 - Timing: Celebrate on that Saturday or Sunday - Dark Moon Capricorn: Balance elemental earth energy and perform shadow work for the virtues and vices of Capricorn. - Dates: Monday, December 30, 2025 (after moon enters Capricorn) - Cold Full Moon, Winter Cardinal: Initiate winter preparation of your Great Work. - Date: Monday, January 13, 2025 - Dark Moon Aquarius: Elemental air energy and shadow work come together to explore the virtues and vices of Aquarius. The Sun and Moon are both in Aquarius on January 29, 2025 at 7:36 am, with a suggested celebration timing the night before. This marks the return of the Maiden Goddess and Green Lord from the Underworld. The High Winter Imbolc Sabbat ritual aims to welcome back these figures, while the Knowing Sun points to 15º Aquarius on February 3, 2025 at 10:33 pm. Celebrations can take place over the weekend of January 30-February 2, 2025, ideally during the Witching Hours between 3:00 and dawn. The 2025 Air Detail highlights elemental air's powers of knowing and wonderment. The Ostaratide begins after Imbolc celebrations, allowing us to tap into these energies. We'll learn what's already understood about our Great Work intention, then release expectations and open ourselves up to experimentation at Ostara. Quickening Full Moon in Winter marks the final preparation for the Great Work. This takes place on February 12, 2025 at 8:53 am, with a suggested celebration timing the night before. The Dark Moon Pisces ritual balances elemental water energy and shadow work for the virtues and vices of Pisces, occurring on February 27, 2025. The Storm Full Moon in Winter marks the conclusion of winter preparation. This lunar eclipse takes place on March 14, 2025 at 2:55 am, with a suggested celebration timing the night before or during the moon's waning phase in Virgo. Spring arrives with the Germination ritual, celebrating fertility and wonderment. This occurs on March 20, 2025 as the Sun enters Aries at 5:01 am, with suggested celebrations taking place over the weekend of March 21-23, 2025. The Dark Moon Aries and Solar Eclipse rituals balance elemental fire energy and shadow work for the virtues and vices of Aries. These take place on March 29, 2025, with a suggested celebration timing the night before. Finally, the Wind Full Moon in Spring marks the initiation of spring germination for the Great Work. This occurs on April 12, 2025 at 8:22 pm, with suggested celebrations taking place the night before. The Dark Moon Taurus ritual balances elemental earth energy and shadow work for the virtues and vices of Taurus, occurring on April 27, 2025 at 3:31 pm. Celebrate Beltane on May 5, 2025, between the Moon's entry into Taurus at 3:17 am and exact conjunction at 3:31 pm. This marks the beginning of the High Spring season. Plan your celebrations for May 2-4, 2025, with mid-morning being an ideal time. As we celebrate Beltane, we tap into the elemental fire's power to manifest our desires and forge plans of action. At Litha, we release what no longer serves us and invest in our goals through personal sacrifice and hard work. The Flower Full Moon on May 12, 2025, is a great opportunity to maximize spring growth and germination of the Great Work. Celebrate this night with ceremonies and rituals to nurture your intentions. The Dark Moon Gemini on May 26, 2025, balances elemental air energy and encourages shadow work for understanding the virtues and vices of Gemini. Mark this day after the Moon enters Gemini at 1:21 pm. The Strong Sun Full Moon on June 11, 2025, concludes spring germination of the Great Work. Celebrate this night with rituals to solidify your progress and accomplishments. As summer approaches, celebrate its peak light and welcome the coming darkness with surrender. Plan your ceremonies for June 20-22, 2025, during the Season of Summer: Cultivation ritual function. Balance elemental water energy and explore the virtues and vices of Cancer on June 25, 2025, during the Dark Moon Cancer celebration. Initiate summer's cultivation of the Great Work with the Blessing Full Moon on July 10, 2025. Celebrate this night with rituals to set intentions for growth and progress. Finally, balance elemental fire energy and explore the virtues and vices of Leo on July 24, 2025, during the Dark Moon Leo celebration. The celestial events of 2025 are rich with significance for those seeking to advance their Great Work goals. A series of astrological occurrences, including solar and lunar eclipses, full moons, and dark moon rituals, will unfold throughout the year. In mid-August, the Mabontide commences after Lammas celebrations conclude. This marks a time for harnessing elemental water's power to dare and overcome obstacles. As we settle into new landscapes, our emotional waters are molded into their desired forms at Mabon, allowing acceptance to prevail. The Full Moon in August, under the sign of Virgo, maximizes summer's cultivation. A dark moon ritual is suggested on August 23rd, focusing on balancing earth energy and shadow work for the virtues and vices of Virgo. The Harvest Moon in September brings a Lunar Eclipse, signaling the conclusion of summer's Great Work cultivation. This event occurs under the mutable sign of Pisces and provides an opportunity to conclude unfinished tasks. In late September, another dark moon ritual takes place in Virgo, offering a second chance to balance earth energy and shadow work. The 2025 Black Moon/Solar Eclipse in Virgo shifts Lunar Leadership back to Full Moons in each pairing. As autumn arrives, the season's integration rituals begin. On September 22nd, the Sun enters Libra, marking the start of the Autumn Season Integration Ritual Function. This is followed by a Blood Full Moon on October 6th, initiating Autumn's integration of the Great Work under the cardinal sign of Aries. Finally, the Dark Moon in Libra on October 21st calls for balancing elemental air energy and shadow work for the virtues and vices of Libra.
